REPORT

International Mother Language Day in 2019 was organized on 21.02.2019 by the Department of Bengali. The programme began at 1 pm with The Teacher-in-Charge Sanjit Debnath delivering the Welcome Address, which was followed by the Inaugural address by Dr Madhumita Basu, Head of the Department of Bengali. This was followed by songs and poems by the students who celebrated the beauty of their mother language through various dance, song and poetry recitals. The International Mother Language Day was observed to commemorate the sacrifice of the Bengali language martyrs. On this historic occasion, the Department of Bengali organized the programme wherein the students delivered speeches on the importance of the mother language and the vernacular in a globalized world. They also recited Bengali poems, sang songs and performed dance recitals to celebrate their native tongue. The President of the Organizing Governing Body and the founder of the college Dr Anindya Kishor Bhaumik, along with other members, graced the occasion and delivers lectures on the significance of this day. 45 students and 18 staff members attended the programme.

Outcome: The speakers and the other faculty members delivered speeches and inspired the students to inherit the legacy of their mother language and respect all languages of the world.
